

WEILAND FINANCIAL GROUP SHARES EXPERTISE WITH PROFORMATIVE ONLINE TREASURY COMMUNITY

BANNOCKBURN, III. – May 3, 2010 – The Weiland Financial Group, Inc. (“WFG”) has partnered with Proformative to further extend its treasury expertise into the online world. Proformative, a free, online resource for corporate finance, accounting, and treasury practitioners, will host a mini-site for Weiland Financial where the company’s thought leaders can share white papers, resources, and advice with the online treasury community. Additionally, WFG will be the site’s resident expert on account analysis, bank account management, and a host of other topics that Proformative members can directly ask WFG’s experts about either publicly or privately.

“I’m excited,” said Dan Gill, Director of WFG’s Corporate Products and recognized bank fee expert. “The sky has been falling for quite some time now in the treasury world. Treasurers have seen their fees soar and many don’t know what to do about it. By making myself available on Proformative, I hope to help treasurers in need, increase understanding about bank fee analysis, and maybe even facilitate more productive bank-customer relationships amongst Proformative members.”

Pat Weiland, WFG CEO, continued: “We’ve always made ourselves available to those with questions about our areas of expertise – be they general questions about bank fee analysis and bank account management or more specific ones about the BSB, eBAM, or FDIC fees. By partnering with Proformative, we have now opened that door to the fastest growing treasury community online. We’re here to help.”

John Kogan, Proformative CEO, echoed Weiland’s enthusiasm: “Proformative is excited to partner with a world class provider in the arena of treasury technology. The Weiland Financial Group shares our strong commitment to serving treasury and finance professionals and we look forward to collaborating with them on many fronts to deliver great value to our members.”
